

TSNE Plot

From this plot, we can see that data very mixed, and it could be hard to divide labels. This could happen because we use only 75 percent of variance. This seems that general approaches with dividing with hyperplane can be useless, and we need more complex ones.